

RESULTS OF THE Q3 QUESTION INVENTORY

How much have you learned so far in ELAB?

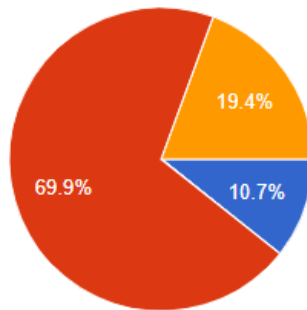

103 responses

- Not very much. I either didn't pay attention or struggled through almost everything.
- A little bit, maybe. I'm starting to get the hang of this writing thing.
- I was able to keep up, but I can't say I've mastered everything.
- More than I thought I would, actually. Never thought I'd like writing as much as I do now.

What kind of reader are you?

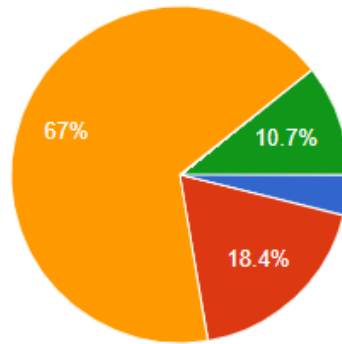

103 responses

- I'm not awful, but I have trouble keeping up in my ELA/ELAB classes.
- I'd say I'm about where I should be.
- I read all the time and feel like I need to be challenged more.

What kind of writer are you?

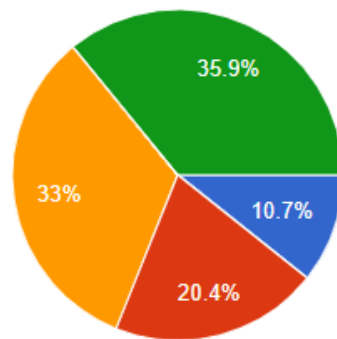

103 responses

- I don't feel confident at all. Most of the time I feel like I'm catching up.
- I could do more to stay up to speed, but I'm not an awful writer.
- I can keep up in class just fine, but I still have plenty to learn.
- I feel ahead of most of my classmates and I need to be challenged more.

What type of writing was the most difficult for you?

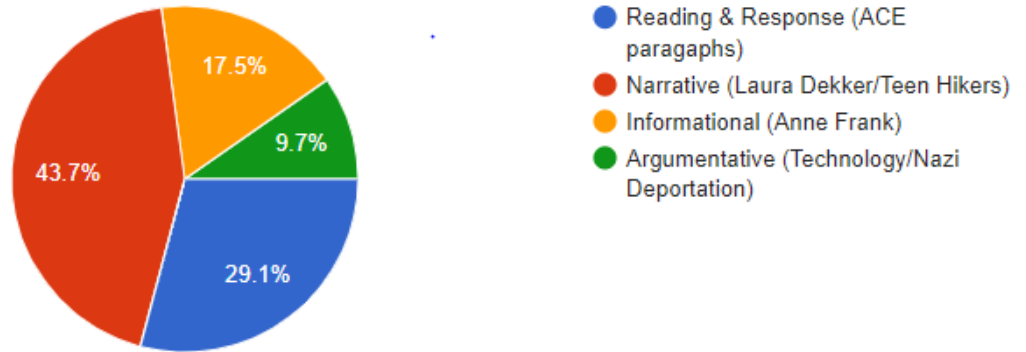

103 responses

- Reading & Response (ACE paragraphs)
- Narrative (Laura Dekker/Teen Hikers)
- Informational (Anne Frank)
- Argumentative (Technology/Nazi Deportation)

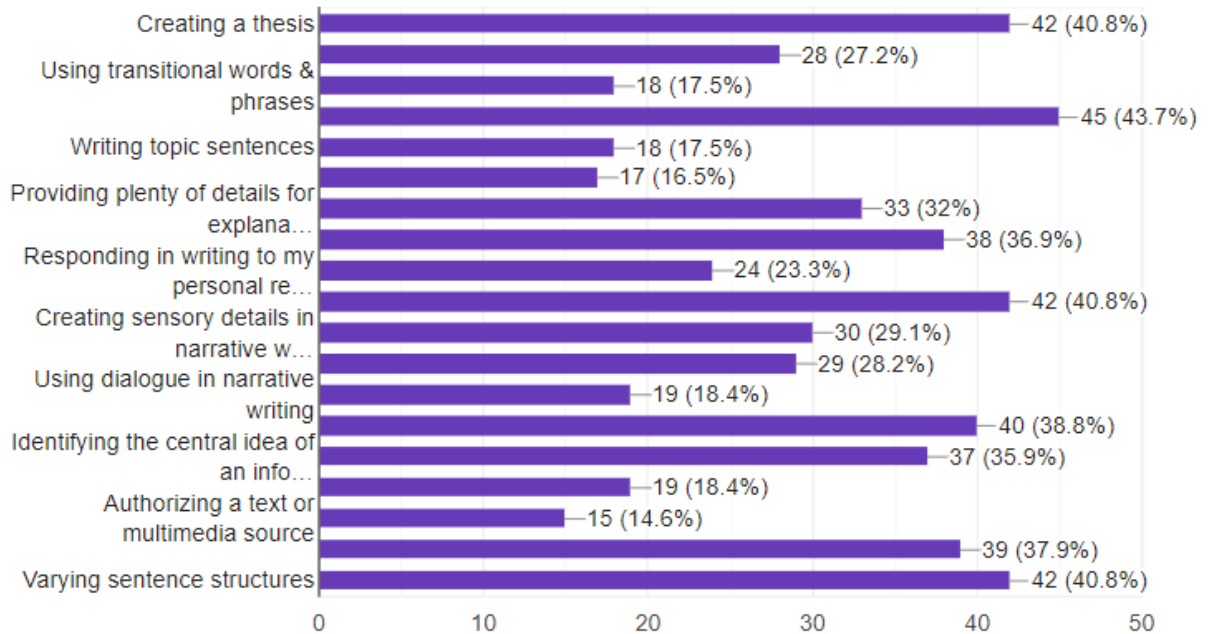

What type of writing was the easiest for you?

103 responses

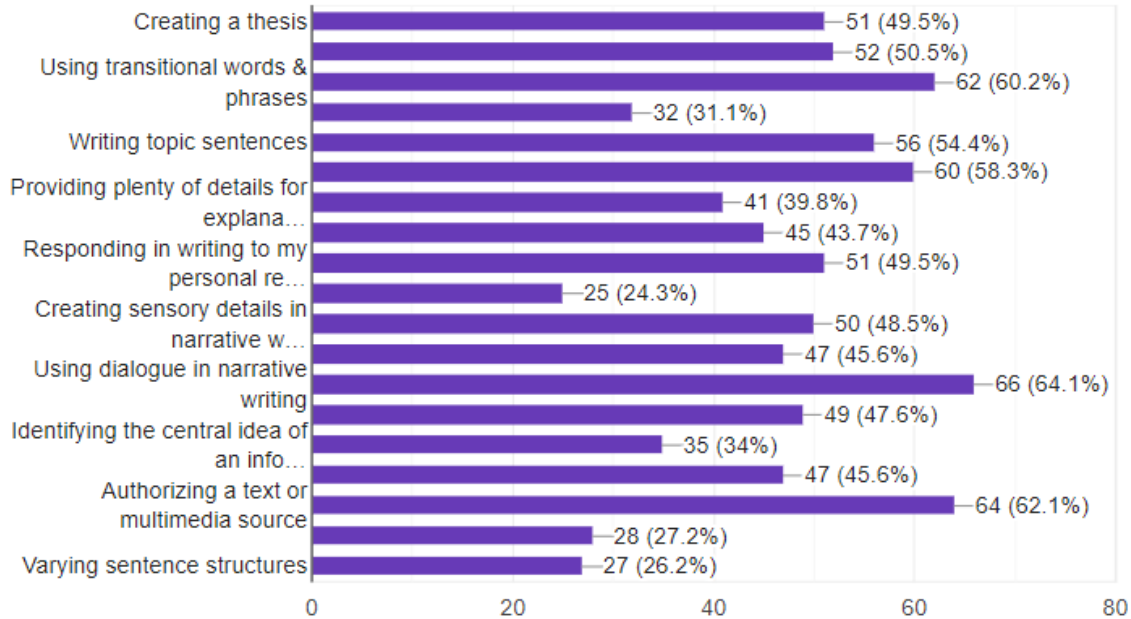

What specific skills do you think are the most difficult for you to master?

103 responses

What specific skills do you think are the easiest for you to master?

103 responses

Pick three conventions of English grammar you struggle with the most:

103 responses

